17 Students, Two Bio Profs Spend Break in Texas

Seventeen students and two faculty members of the Missouri Southern College Biology Department spent the spring break on Padre Island on the coast of Texas.

Dr. O. E. Orr and Wayne Stebbens accompanied the students on the week-long camp-out which included several short field trips.

The group arrived at Goose Island State Park and from there visited the Bob and Bessie Welder Foundation. The foundation is maintained to appear today the same as it appeared when owned by the Spanish. The 13 square-mile area provides the opportunity for students to study vegetation and wild life.

At Gulf Port, Texas, Game Commission Fish Research Center the group was allowed to board a work boat and observe the fishing techniques of the researchers.

Other field trips included visits to Mexico and the Texas University Medical Center at San Antonio.

Several money-making projects by the Biology Club made the trip possible.

Pollution ? Here ? ?

At the April 9 Student Senate meeting, a grievance was aired, charging Missouri Southern with adding to the pollution problem. The offending source? The old mansion swimming pool, located near the run-down tennis courts.

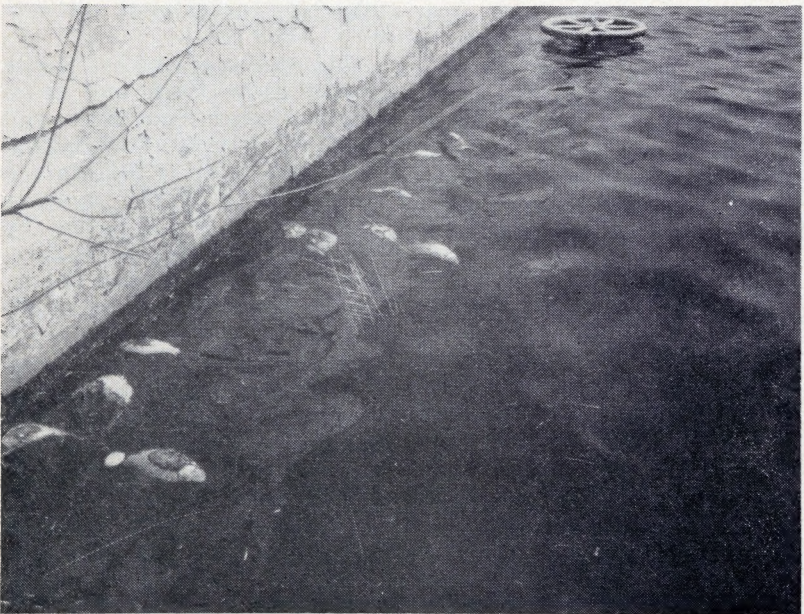

During the past few weeks, students of the photo-journalism class have been touring the campus, taking pictures at various spots. Class members eventually happened upon the pool. Much to their amazement . . . and disgust . . . the students found several "subjects" in the pool area. Dead, floating fish were in abundance, and the group even found a dead turtle, a dead bird and one dead, slimy opossum.

What, you may ask, does this have to do with pollution? It seems water from the pool at times drains into Turkey Creek, carrying with it the decomposed bodies and other decaying debris.

Isn't it time the proper college authorities took action to rid our campus of this disgrace? Members of Circle "K" have volunteered their services to help eliminate the problem. Shouldn't the administration be willing to take the same initiative?

Pretty . . .

Social Comedy Next at Barn

When the curtain opens on the MSC Drama Department's production of R. B. Sheridan's Restoration social comedy, "School for Scandal," the familiar portraits of 18th Century manners will become animate. Scores of crew members have become a part of the production staff struggling to create authenticity in the technical effects of the production to be presented May 6-9.

To begin the show with the flavor of the 18th Century theatre, small gas lamps bordering the thrust stage will be lighted by a cast member, the lights simulating the foot lights used in that era. The lamps were designed and constructed by Jeff Dymott with the help of Linda Tarp-ley, Mike Gilpin, Kathy Barnes and Sam Claussen.

Elaborate costuming reflecting the extravagant style of the Georgian period has been designed by Mrs. Joyce Bowman. Crew members assigned to costume construction include: Cathy Whitman, Pat Pickett, Toni Zbranek, Bonnye Ensor, Steve Kluthe, George Jones, Joy Baldwin, Dawn Crawford, Shirley Daves, Shirley Tullis, Kathi Kiger, Janice Rush, Janet King, Claudette Mercer, Cheri Ross, Neil Larson and Judi Percy.

Exaggerated hair styles, sometimes piling as high as one foot off the head, will be designed by Shirley Daves. Powdered wigs in keeping with the Restoration mode, have been procured for the male cast members.

A simultaneous setting, mirroring the highly decorative and ornamental style, has been designed by Duane Hunt. Included in the set construction workers are: Steve Kluthe, Wayne Cowan, Perry Fellwock, John Reed, Earl Francis, Gary Wilson, John Golden, David Efred, Mike Burke, Dennis Garrison, Irma Woodward and Bill Caldwell.

An especially difficult task of locating furniture pieces apropos to the age was given Joyce McBroom.

Other members of the production crew and their assignments are: Sam Claussen, assistant director; Richard Murrell and Judi Prater, business managers; Cheri Snow, stage manager; Troy White-neck, house manager; Judy Percy, special art work; Mike Burke, sound; Kathi Kiger, program continuity and Irma Woodward, usherette chair-man.

Southern Net Squad Off to Good Start

Early practice sessions and early matches indicate that two freshmen will be among the headliners on Coach Frank Davis' 1970 tennis team. Chris Baker and Jim Adams were strongest contenders for the top spot on the squad. Baker played the number one position on his high school squad at Joplin Parkwood, compiling a dual match record of 6-1. Adams comes from Joplin Memorial, where he was number two on the net squad and a contender in the Missouri State High School Tennis Tournament last year.

Senior Bill Blankenship is showing rapid improvement. Other team members include Bill Newell, Lee Kaffenberger, Dan Kune, Steve Branch, Greg St. John, Calvin Cassidy, L. N. Collier, Les St. John, Keith Gamel and Phil Pierce.

In commenting on the MSC program, Coach Frank Davis emphasized the difficulty of putting the program together without tennis courts on the campus; however, he also indicated that there is plenty of enthusiasm and ambition on this year's team, and there are lots of good competitors.

The team works out daily at Landreth Park and will play home matches at Schiffer-decker Park Courts.

The boys' squad is 1-1 for the season, and the girls' team is 0-1 to date.

Navy Reserve Offers College OCS Program

Naval Reserve personnel will be at the College Union tomorrow between 10:00 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. Lieutenant Commander L. E. Strudl and Chief Petty Officer A. D. Ensor will explain the Reserve Officer Candidate (ROC) program to all interested freshmen and sophomores. The ROC program is the Naval Reserve Officer program offered to college students who are carrying a satisfactory grade point average and can meet physical requirements. The ROC program requires all selected candidates to spend eight weeks in officer training between their junior and senior year during the summer and then another eight weeks after graduation. Following commissioning, the young officer will be ordered to three years active duty in the U. S.

Navy. The Navy's ROC program assures a student of a college deferment while in school. According to Mr. Strudl, it also means approximately $4,341.60 more than if a student applied for a commission through Officer Candidate School (OCS) following college graduation.
